Pc assault man avoids jail term

A HAVERHILL man who assaulted a police officer has avoided being sent to prison after he asked a judge for “another chance”.

Lukasz Zuk, 27, was warned that if he commits another violent offence in the next 12 months he will almost certainly end up behind bars.

Zuk, of Eden Road, Haverhill, was serving an eight-month suspended sentence when he assaulted a police officer who was chasing him, Ipswich Crown Court heard on Monday.

Prosecutor Robert Sadd said police had been called to Bar Vu in Haverhill on the evening of May 5 and given chase when Zuk ran from the scene.

Pc Thomas Darvill chased Zuk from the High Street into Eden Road and got within two feet of him when Zuk suddenly stopped, turned and raised his arm which struck the officer on the nose.

A second police officer arrived and helped to restrain Zuk, who was arrested.

In August Zuk had appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court where he pleaded not guilty to assaulting a police constable but was found guilty and was sent to the Crown court to be sentenced.

Mr Sadd said that in February Zuk had been made the subject of a year-long suspended sentence after pleading guilty to affray following an incident outside Bar Vu when he made threats before brandishing

Royal mail for playgroup kids

DRAWINGS by children in Linton have been met with royal approval.

Kids from Linton Granta playgroup decided to send the Queen some drawings they had done during the Jubilee celebrations and were ecstatic when a letter from Buckingham Palace was waiting for them at the beginning of term.

The letter was addressed to all the children at Linton Granta playgroup and said: “The Queen wished me to write and thank you all for the splendid drawings you sent on the occasion of Her Majesty’s diamond jubilee.”

“The Queen greatly appreciated your thought in this special year and hopes that you will understand because of the huge amount of messages received in the last few months she has not been able to respond until now.”

Playgroup leader Karen Thompson, who runs the sessions for 2 to 4-year-olds, said: “We are over the moon. For a couple of weeks we learnt all about the Royal Family, we had a garden party for the jubilee and a crown challenge.”

“Because we were talking about the royals, the children said ‘can we send the Queen some of our pictures?’”

Karen said she told the children they might not get an answer but sent their pictures anyway.

She added: “We are so chuffed the children got a reply.”

and throwing a plastic pole at a group of customers. The court heard that Zuk, who represented himself in court, had complied well with conditions attached to that sentence.

Speaking through a Polish interpreter, Zuk said: "I would like to apologise for my actions.

"In my defence I would like to stress that I had no intention of harming anybody.

"I would like to ask Your Honour for another chance."

Sentencing him, Judge John Devaux said that on both occasions the offences had been committed after Zuk had been drinking.

Normally, the suspended sentence would be activated in addition to a further penalty but Zuk's good work-ethic and compliance with court orders were in his favour.

Judge Devaux said: "Those factors just cause me to conclude that it is not necessary to send you to prison."

Zuk was sentenced to a further three months' imprisonment suspended for a year, told he must complete another 80 hours' unpaid community work and pay £250 compensation to Pc Darvill.

Judge Devaux told Zuk: "I really cannot see another court failing to implement this sentence if you commit any further offence of violence within the next 12 months."

The original suspended sentence of eight months suspended for 12 months will now remain in force for a further year, said the judge.

Billy being made to feel at home as the new addition

YOUNGSTERS were delighted by the newest addition to Linton Zoo.

Billy the binturong is a large forest-dwelling animal from south-east Asia which is threatened in its natural habitat due to deforestation and hunting by fruit farmers.

Billy was born in Artis Zoo in Amsterdam and will soon be joined by a female companion to form a breeding pair.

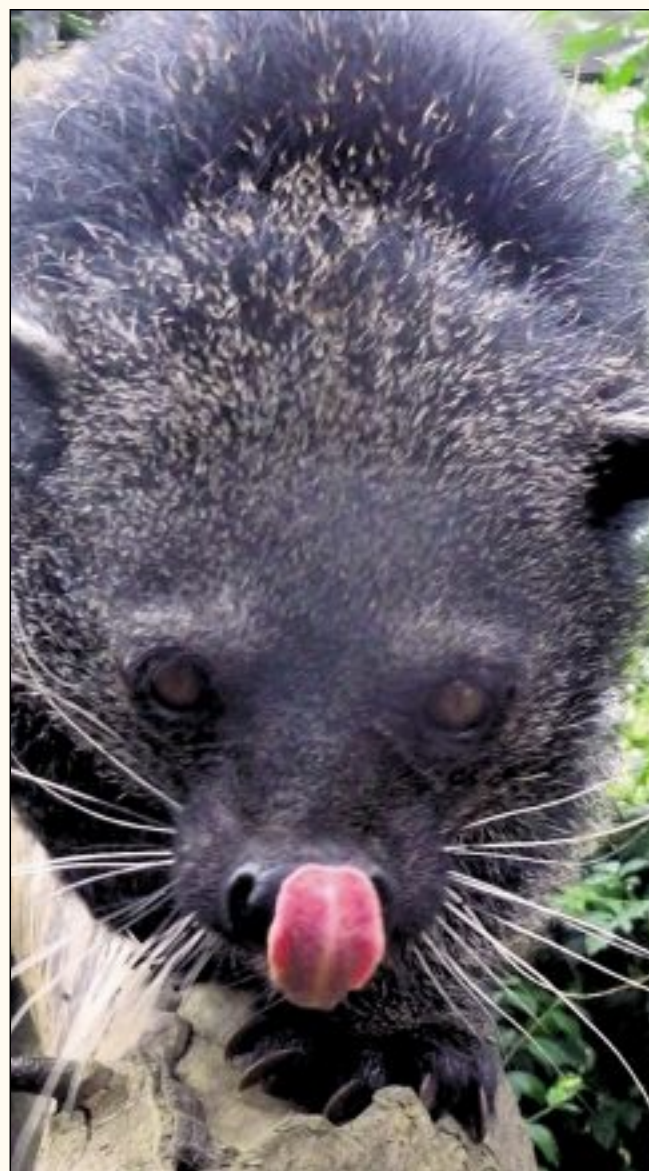

Binturongs are rarely found in captivity but they have been kept at Linton Zoo for more than 40 years.

The creatures are nocturnal so they are rarely seen in the wild and they have a thick shaggy coat, which is unusual for the rainforest habitat.

Their favourite food is bananas, despite being traditionally carnivorous.

Other animals to see at Linton Zoo, on Hadstock Road, include a snow leopard, a crowned lemur and a red necked wallaby.

The zoo is open from 10.30am until 5pm seven days a week if you would like to visit Billy.

A warm welcome: Billy the binturong gets used to his new surroundings at Linton Zoo.

Trial date is set for arson case

TWO men accused of committing an arson attack at Chifford Hall have pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Thomas Richardson, 26, and Mark Hall, 27, appeared at Cambridge Crown Court yesterday jointly charged with two counts of arson with intent to endanger life on June 13.

Both men, who live at different addresses in Pipers Close in Haverhill, were remanded in custody until the trial.

The trial date was set for December 10 at Cambridge Crown Court and is expected to last seven days.

Charity walk

WOMEN are encouraged to don togas for a fundraising walk which takes place on Saturday, and not Friday as reported in last week's Weekly News.

The Girls Night Out walk will take place in Bury St Edmunds to raise money for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Walkers can choose between an 11.2-mile walk and a six-mile walk and more than 700 people have signed up so far.

For more information call Jenny Baskett on 01284 715583 or email fundraisingteam@stnh.org.uk.

Patients will feel benefit

PATIENTS with joint disease will be able to get specialist care as a new clinic is launched next week.

Haverhill Health Clinic, in Camps Road, will host its first session for people with rheumatology problems on Monday, run by Dr Shweta Bhagat, a consultant rheumatologist from West Suffolk Hospital, and a specialist nurse.

Dr Bhagat said: "We will be accepting referrals from local GPs for all inflammatory and non-inflammatory conditions, including rheumatoid arthritis, psoriatic arthritis, osteoporosis, connective tissue disease and other musculoskeletal complaints.

"We hope the clinic will benefit our patients by reducing the distance they need to travel for treatment and bringing services closer to home."

Health chiefs hope the service will help people from Haverhill who currently have to travel to Bury St Edmunds to receive treatment, which many cannot afford.

NHS Suffolk, the healthcare provider for Haverhill, has come under criticism following the closure of the Crown Health Centre in July which had more than 900 registered patients.

The popular walk-in clinic attracted more than 22,500 visitors since its opening in 2009.

Will Austin, Haverhill town

clerk, said: "We welcome any investment in health services in the town but it is difficult to see on the face of it how this new service compensates for the services lost after the closure of the Crown Health Centre and the £1.2m taken from Haverhill."

He said investment was needed in providing diagnostic medicine, increasing out-of-hours services and improving transport links to the West Suffolk Hospital.

The clinics will take place on the third Monday of each month and all patients can use the service, even if they are not usually patients at the clinic.

If you are not registered at Haverhill Health Clinic call 01284 713713.

Can you give a new home to Mr T, the lost terrapin?

A LOST terrapin has been living in a bathtub after being found wandering the streets of Suffolk by police.

Officers are trying to trace the owners of the reptile, nicknamed Mr T, which was spotted by PCSO Ryan Wilson while on patrol near Highpoint Prison in Stradishall on Tuesday, September 5. PCSO Wilson put the terrapin inside his hat and took it back to the station.

Mr T was then taken to Linton Zoo, which was unable to offer the creature a home, and it has since been living in a bathtub at the home of one of PCSO Wilson's friends.

The officer added: "Unfortunately they can't keep it forever as the vet said it can't go in their pond because it will eat all the fish and bother baby ducks." Call Suffolk police on 101 to reclaim the terrapin or offer it a home.

Court order could force out travellers

TRAVELLERS occupying land on the edge of Haverhill may be removed by a court order after they refused to comply with an eviction notice.

Suffolk County Council's traveller liaison team and the police issued a notice demanding the removal of the camp by last Thursday.

Pc Wright confirmed the encampment had not moved from the site near Bergamot Road despite an eviction notice.

The county council and the police will go to court today to obtain an order allowing them to remove the travellers.

The travellers appeared on August 28 after digging their way through fencing and parking around six caravans and ten other vehicles at the site near a playground.

Charge denied

A MAN was given conditional bail after he allegedly sexually assaulted a woman.

Christopher Tienken, of Argyll Court in Haverhill, appeared at West Suffolk Magistrates' Court on Friday charged with sexual assault after an incident on August 19 in Newmarket.

The 19-year-old indicated a not guilty plea and was released on bail on the condition he did not contact the alleged victim. The case will resume on November 2 at the same court.

Towing plans lead to 'worst town' worries

IMPLEMENTING a towing system in the High Street would make Haverhill "the worst town in Suffolk" for shopping, according to a senior councillor.

Despite an almost unanimous vote in favour by members of the public at a Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) meeting on Monday, SNT chair Cllr Tim Marks said it would drive shoppers away.

Cllr Marks, who is also Mayor of St Edmundsbury, said: "We would be branded the worst town in the whole of Suffolk."

Cllr Clive Turner suggested the idea at a meeting of the town council last week after it had been successfully implemented in St Ives.

Haverhill Town Mayor Pat Hanlon said he had tried for years to get "bigger and better businesses to come to Haverhill" but a towing system would put people off.

Some residents said they had

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

lost faith in the police due to illegal parking on the High Street.

Haverhill's Insp Peter Ferrie faced criticism about the issue despite reading figures showing crime had fallen overall compared to a three-year average.

He said 796 incidents happened this year compared with an average of 926 over the past few years.

The heated exchanges took place at public priority setting meeting of the SNT.

Previous priorities included crackdowns on parking on the High Street, anti-social behaviour on Queen Street and also in the Chalkestone Estate.

The meeting voted to continue to direct resources towards parking on the High Street.

Insp Ferrie said he had issued 45 tickets in the last three months on the High Street, which councillors felt was not enough.

Cllr Roger Andre said: "It beggars belief that you say this is being treated as a priority."

Cllr Maureen Byrne hit back at criticism and said the police were doing their best with limited resources.

While the High Street remains a priority, police are going to try a different approach to issuing fixed penalty notices.

Insp Ferrie said: "We are going nowhere fast at the moment."

"We are going to work with the different councils and see where that gets us."

The meeting also agreed to axe the focus on anti-social behaviour in Queen Street and the Chalkestone Estate and direct extra resources towards tackling young people gathering in Wilsey Woods and anti-social behaviour in Railway Walk.

Charitable support: Eldon Mackridge and his wife, Gladys, who accompanied him on the drive.

Eldon's 75th birthday is extra special

AN INTREPID 74-year-old drove from Land's End to John O'Groats to raise money for a crime-fighting charity.

Eldon Mackridge, from Haverhill, kicked off the 850-mile journey on Saturday to raise money for Suffolk Crimestoppers, where he is a fundraiser and committee member.

Eldon, who was a professional chauffeur and special constable before he retired, said: "I have always wanted to do it and when you get to 75 you realise you might not be able to do it in a few years time."

He turned 75 on the first day of the three-day trip and celebrated his birthday with wife Gladys who also accompanied him on the drive.

He collected route card stamps from post offices and police stations along the way as well as taking photos to document his route. He has raised £500 so far and hopes donations will continue to come. Ann Scott, of independent charity Crimestoppers, said: "With 23 arrests being made every day from information given to Crimestoppers, the charity plays a significant part in getting criminals off the street."

"The charity has many active and passionate volunteers, like Eldon, who give up their own time to promote the charity."

Rail project looking to reopen link

WHEELS are turning on a project to reinstate a railway line through Haverhill.

The Cambridge to Colchester Rail Project is holding a meeting next month on the High Street to see whether members of the public will support the plan to establish a rail link between Cambridge and Sudbury.

The rail link was closed in 1967 and the population along the route has risen sharply within that time, especially in Haverhill where population has increased from 8,500 to around 23,000.

Rev Malcolm Hill, chairman of the project which began in 1995, said: "Going back to the 1990s there was considerable unemployment in Haverhill and Sudbury and we thought that a railway would help to create jobs in construction of the railway and so people can travel to work.

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"Quite a lot of people see the need for the railway and we hope they will support us."

He added: "It will be quite expensive so we need the support of national government and local government and business as well."

If there is enough public interest, the next step is to commission a full engineering survey, which costs £46,000, to work out the logistics of route.

Maureen Cornish, 63, of Eastern Avenue, said: "I think it's a good idea because I have caught the bus and it is slow as it goes all around all the villages."

Ronald Davis, 70, of Aylsham

Close, said: "It should never have been taken away."

"It's a great idea as it broadens the horizons of the town."

Haverhill Town Mayor Cllr Pat Hanlon said: "I think the town council is in support of the initiative but not at the present time financially."

"At the end of the day we have got to think about the tax payer's money we would be spending."

He said the full council would have to decide whether it would commit to supporting the project financially.

A spokesman for Suffolk County Council said: "The county council is very supportive of sustainable modes of transport, including railways, and we would happily look at any proposals put before of us."

Elegant way to keep fit

LEARN to belly dance like Shakira at a new class in Haverhill.

Lorraine Pendleton, who has been a dance teacher for more than 20 years, said she decided to put on belly dancing classes as a fun alternative to more traditional aerobics.

Lorraine said: "Belly dance provides sizzling routines at a sensual pace and makes a great alternative to the higher impact classes which are around."

"It's a class where curves are a definite advantage and is an elegant way to tone and keep fit."

The first session will take place on Thursday, September 20 at 6.30pm at Haverhill Rovers FC, in Chalkestone Way.

For further information call 07807 635198 or email bellydanza@hotmail.co.uk

Safer sex scheme

YOUNG people can sign up for a new scheme which will provide quick and confidential access to contraception as part of Sexual Health Week.

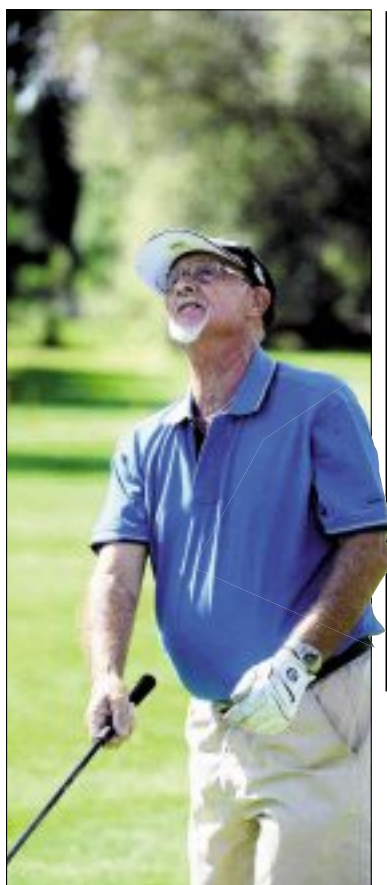

The 'c-card' scheme allows young people to register to get free condoms from any venue with a c-card logo, including GP surgeries, housing providers and youth clubs.

The Terrence Higgins Trust Suffolk will be delivering the service all over the county and will be at the Health Clinic in Camps Road, Haverhill from 6.15pm to 7.15pm on Monday to explain the initiative to teenagers.

Rachel Toner, service manager for Terrence Higgins Trust in Suffolk, said: "C-card is a great initiative that really helps to ensure that young people have safer sex."

"The c-card registration is easy and quick and anyone is welcome to come along to our road show, whether they are already having sex, thinking about having sex or just curious and want to know more."

Playing a round: golfers turned out in the sunshine at Haverhill to raise money for charity. The event at Haverhill Golf Club raised around £3,000 for the East Anglian Air Ambulance and St Nicholas Hospice.

Golfers collect thousands for charity

CHARITABLE golfers have hit a hole in one by raising around £3,000.

The Charity Golf Classic event on Saturday at Haverhill Golf Club raised money for the East Anglian Air Ambulance and St Nicholas Hospice.

Chris Briggs, a committee member, said: "The sun was shining and everything went really well."

"I want to thank the sponsors and members of the golf club for supporting it."

He said 18 teams took part in the competition which was organised by the golf club and Haverhill and District Rotary Club.

Lucky raffle winners received an iPad and a Kindle as well as a reflexology voucher.

The evening went down a treat as magician El Rico provided the entertainment and live music went on until the early hours.

Festival to be full of celebrations

A FLOWER festival will take place in a Kedington church on September 29 and 30.

Bouquets of flowers will fill St Peter's and St Paul's Church and all the displays will show off their take on the theme 'Celebrations'.

Tickets cost £2.50 for adults and children are free. Doors open 11am until 5.30pm. For information call The Stourhead Benefice 01440 763066.

Gym club set for fun day and sale

A GYMNASICS club is holding a fun day to raise money for a new building.

Pony rides, craft making activities and a bouncy castle will be part of Haverhill Gymnastics Club's event on Sunday, September 23.

The car boot sale starts at 9am with events running until 2pm at Haverhill Rovers Football Club, in Chalkestone Way. Pitches for the car boot sale cost £5.

Keep it in family

FIND out who your ancestors were at Haverhill Family History Group's event from 11am until 4pm on Saturday at Haverhill Library.

There will be a talk on 'Finding your military ancestors' by expert Martin Edwards at 11am. Entry is free but donations to St Nicholas Hospice Care are welcome.

Appeal for £50,000 to aid Megan

PARENTS of a severely disabled girl who were told they weren't "needy enough" are trying to raise £50,000 to have their home adapted for their daughter.

Megan Roper, 5, of Long Melford, suffered from such severe epilepsy when she was born that she was having up to 40 seizures a day.

Mum Sarah said Megan's epilepsy is controlled now but she has severe development delay meaning she cannot sit up or maintain control of her limbs.

They want to install lifts in the house as well as a specially adapted bathroom and a sensory room to make life easier for Megan.

Sarah said: "It would

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

have a huge impact on our lives if this work was done."

They have raised £20,000 already but the work will cost £76,000 in total and take up to 12 weeks to complete.

Sarah said: "I approached TV show DIY SOS but we were deemed not 'needy' enough."

Doctors have been unable to diagnose a cause for Megan's epilepsy, despite her visiting specialists at Addenbrooke's and being part of a genetic testing programme at Great Ormond Street Hospital.

Sarah added: "Megan has had more tests than I care to remember to find out what is causing her epilepsy and to date we have had no diagnosis.

"As a parent you can imagine how hard it is for us to watch our beautiful little girl grow up but not know what the future holds for her and us."

They have applied for a £30,000 disability facilities grant but are uncertain whether they would get an award.

Sarah said: "As part of our fundraising we have done Spartan runs, tandem sky diving, dances, raffles, tombolas, walking and people have even run the Edinburgh Marathon for us."

If you would like to organise an event or make a donation, email roper_sarah@sky.com.

Parents' concern understandable

Sir, Headteachers and parents are rightly very concerned about the grades awarded to students following this year's GCSE English examinations.

The data our secondary schools and Academies have passed to the county council, particularly about the English and maths GCSE, is very consistent and shows:

■ Individual schools across Suffolk have seen significant falls in results depending on the month in which the students were assessed.

■ The greatest inconsistency is the boundary between grade C and D.

■ For a significant proportion of students, the final grade they achieved was less dependent on the quality of their work and more on which exam board and when students sat the exam.

■ The issue is clearly not about the quality of marking but about the change made to the grade boundaries.

A major concern expressed to us by all of the schools and parents is the impact of these inconsistencies on the young people of Suffolk. We have had many examples of students who were expected to get C grades who are now unable to access the next stage of their education or training or are having difficulties securing offers of employment.

From the evidence we have, it seems clear that the goalposts have been moved without warning and this has undermined the credibility of the entire examination system with students, employers, parents, schools and further education institutions.

It is unprecedented for the grade boundaries to have been changed so significantly mid-year without any prior notification to students or their teachers

If there is a perceived need to raise the standard of a GCSE pass, surely this needs to be done more consistently across the various examination boards, and in the full knowledge of students and teachers at the start of the course.

Councillor Graham Newman
Cabinet member for education and young people
Suffolk County Council

Survey results are nonsense

Sir, Once again the nonsense of 'pedestrianisation' of the High Street has been trotted out, with the mayor quoting a survey where 70% were in favour. How many were in this survey – 10, 20? As a percentage of residents in this town how many do they represent – 0.1% perhaps? I think we need to know. The nonsense of pedestrianisation has been going on for years.

Have you wondered how closely it is linked to the demise of high streets across the land? Let us see. Hmm, I have to park some way from the shops and it is awkward and expensive – I know, I'll go to a shopping centre or do it online. Easy. As a disabled badge user I can assure you that I would never shop in the High Street if I could not park close to where I need to get to, because I have no choice. Still, they continue to peddle the nonsense of the benefits of pedestrianisation and continue to wonder why the high streets in this land are dying.

As for the illegal parkers and illegal users of the High Street (and there are many), we have lots of CCTV cameras so why not add number plate recognition? Blue badge holders can register their vehicles so they are ignored and all the others can be fined automatically. As for blue badge holders in a temporary vehicle, a simple SMS system that allows them to send their code and the registration via their phone could easily cope with this – I will write the software for free if it helps.

The revenue generated should cover any minor costs involved while keeping the high street open.

While we are at it, can we ensure that the phrase 'there are lies, damn lies and statistics' cannot be applied to this argument? Next time will the mayor quote the full facts – 70% of how many? I have conducted a survey and found 100% against the plans.

Dennis Richard

Council to blame for long delay

Sir, I have just read in disbelief that the arguments as to what to do about the problems with the parking in the high street have been going on for 25 years!

I think this says more about the councillors involved for not dealing with it than the problem itself. Local government at its best.

Get 'warm as toast' for winter

RESIDENTS can feel warm inside by getting their homes winter proofed for free and raising money for charity at the same time.

The 'Warm as Toast' campaign, organised by Suffolk's County, District and Borough Councils, is offering to insulate lofts and cavity walls for free if Suffolk home owners apply before the September 30 deadline.

In partnership with local companies, the campaign will also donate £15 per house insulated to charities and schools in the area

More than £3,000 has been raised so far which has gone to charities like East Anglian Children Hospice (EACH).

Camilla Haycock, of EACH, said: "This really is a win-win situation for EACH and all the local charities and organisations that are set to benefit from this fantastic scheme."

"Residents get their homes insulated for free and we receive a donation which will help EACH to provide the support for families and care for children with life-threatening conditions in our region."

Cllr Lisa Chambers, Suffolk County Council's cabinet member for environment and property management, said it was an opportunity to save money and support charity.

To apply call 0845 603 7686 or visit www.greensuffolk.org/toast.

Drug offences admitted

A HAVERHILL man has appeared in court to admit producing cannabis.

Simon Plumridge, 30, of Willow Close, pleaded guilty to production of the class B drug with intent to supply on June 13.

Ipswich Crown Court heard that his guilty plea was on the basis that only three of the 11 wraps of cannabis found in his possession were intended for someone else.

Plumridge also pleaded guilty to producing cannabis between May 13 and June 13.

Judge David Goodin agreed to a request from defence barrister Richard Potts for the preparation of a pre-sentence report.

Plumridge, who was told he will continue to be granted bail until his next court appearance, is due to be sentenced on Monday.

Olympic flags available now

FLAGS which lined the High Street for the Olympic torch relay can be bought as souvenirs.

The Town Council are offering the special edition 'Haverhill 2012' flags for £30 each, as a memento of the day 25,000 people lined the streets to watch the Olympic flame.

Will Austin, Haverhill town clerk, said there are only 50 of the flags but the council can order more if they prove popular.

He said: "The flags themselves have been incredibly successful and people have been very complimentary about them. "We used them to promote the town."

The money raised will be used to offset the cost of organising the Olympic torch relay.

The special design was created by the design office for ONE Haverhill, an independent board which brings together different community groups in the town.

Car thieves also take away laptop

A CAR was stolen last week after the keys were taken from the owner's house.

Two mobile phones, a Hewlett Packard laptop and a tartan car rug were taken alongside the keys to the blue Vauxhall car from a house on Stockley Close, in Haverhill between 11pm on Wednesday and 7am on Thursday.

Anyone who witnessed the incident or has any information should contact the Suffolk Police on 101.

Damage to home

A WHEELIE bin was set on fire on Saturday causing damage to brickwork on a nearby house.

Police are appealing for information about the incident at around 4.40am on a footpath near Somerset Court. Call them on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Injury forced Bob to finish trip on the bus

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A CHARITABLE 81-year-old fell and hurt his knee whilst walking from Bournemouth to Torquay to raise money for a sight loss charity.

Bob Cornwall, of Manor Farm Close in Haverhill, decided to raise money for the International Glaucoma Association after suffering from the disease for 30 years.

Glaucoma is caused by damage to the optic nerve and can lead to blindness if left untreated.

As well as raising money for charity Bob said he was spurred on to do the walk after the death of his wife in January.

He said: "I thought it would be good to get away and keep busy."

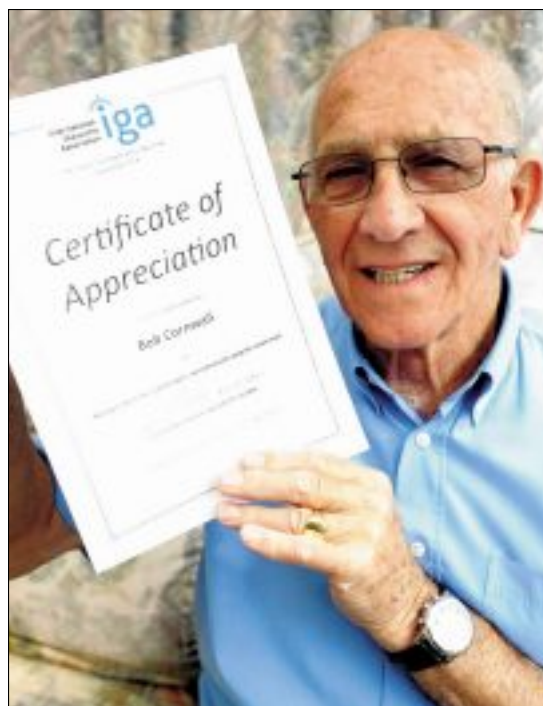

"I had to tell my three daughters, of course they immediately thought about getting me sectioned."

Bob said he has been a keen walker since his doctors told him to get as much as possible after he suffered a heart attack in 2009.

He normally walks around Haverhill every morning, a distance of two-and-a-half miles.

He set off on July 14 from Bournemouth on his 110-mile journey but unfortunately was forced to stop after he tripped on some concrete stairs in Weymouth on July 17.

Bob said: "I thought I could walk it off but by the time I had walked five or six miles my knee had started to really throb."

Undeterred he continued to walk to Abbotsbury where he was taken to A & E and told he needed to rest for two days.

Bob said he was frustrated by his injuries as he knew he would not be able to complete the walk.

He added: "There I was like a cod on a fish monger's slab, with all this ice packed around me."

Despite being unable to walk properly, Bob continued with his journey by bus and arrived in Torquay on July 21, raising £1,169 for the sight loss charity.

Young cyclists help our heroes

A FOURTEEN-year-old boy has cycled 150 miles to raise money for wounded soldiers.

Jack Sheppard, who lives in Blenheim Close in Haverhill, set out from Glensford with his friend Ben Haughton on August 29 and 30 to complete a route which took them to Newmarket, Haverhill, Bottisham, Steeple Bumpstead and back to Haverhill.

Both boys attend Samuel Ward Academy, in Chalkestone Way, and decided to donate the money they raised to Army charity Help for Heroes.

They had planned to camp in Stowmarket on their first night but heavy showers near Sudbury put a dampener on these plans so they had to cycle on to Haverhill that day.

Unfortunately, Ben was taken ill on the first evening and after waiting a few days for him to recover, Jack decided to finish the last 60 miles without him.

Accompanied by his mum Sara, Jack cycled from Haverhill to Newmarket then onto Bottisham and Balsham before returning home on September 2.

The last leg took four-and-a-half hours to complete.

Mum Sara said: "It is a great achievement and both his dad and I are very proud of him for showing determination and commitment and completing the challenge."

"The icing on the cake would have been for him to finish the cycle with his friend but it was not to be, unfortunately."

"Maybe they will do another ride in the future as I know Jack is keen to carry on with cycling."

So far, the ride has raised £160 for the forces charity.

To find out more or to sponsor go to www.justgiving.com/Jack-Sheppard.

Event to focus on pensioners

OLDER people are urged to find out what services are on offer for them at a free event.

The Golden Age Network Event will have stalls from different organisations offering information on health, security, housing, social events and other concerns at Haverhill Arts Centre on Wednesday, September 26.

The event has been organised by ONE Haverhill, the group which aims to provide one voice for the town, and sponsored by Haverhill Town Council.

Organisations present will include Suffolk Police, Red Cross, Suffolk Fire and Rescue, Age Concern and Haverbury Housing as well as many more.

Please contact Three Counties transport on 01440 712028 with two days' notice if you require transport to get to the event.

Steelworks offers job hope for youths

YOUNG jobseekers can build their futures with a new training programme at local steelworks.

Crofton Engineering Ltd, based in Linton, is looking to recruit a design engineering apprentice for a three-year training programme.

Merrie Mannassi, managing director of Crofton Engineering, said: "Over the years we have found it almost impossible to recruit design detail draughtsmen of sufficient calibre."

"This programme is a great way of changing this, as it has been developed by people from inside our industry, who actually understand what is needed both academically and in the workplace."

She added: "Apprenticeships are a fantastic starting point for a career in the construction and engineering sector, in fact it was a route a number of our senior staff, including director Glen Godfrey, our construction manager, and our project engineer, took."

The scheme will be run by The TDS Academy from Telford and each trainee will obtain an ECITB Level Three Diploma in Engineering Construction Design and Drafting, along with a BTEC Level Three Diploma in Operations and Maintenance Engineering, which is equivalent to two A Levels.

Anyone interested in the role should call Crofton Engineering on 01223 892138 or email info@crofton-eng.co.uk.

Charity call to dog owners

DOG owners can do their bit for charity by taking their pet pooch for a sponsored walk.

Sue Ryder charity shop, in Jubilee Walk, is organising the walk on Sunday, September 30 from noon to 1pm at East Town Park.

There will also be a cake sale on Tuesday at 11am in the shop.

Theft admitted

A MAN was given a community order after stealing clothes from a shop on the High Street.

David Kemp, 32, of Fritton Court, stole two bras worth £16 and two pairs of jeans worth £30 from Peacocks in Haverhill on June 27.

He pleaded guilty last Friday at West Suffolk Magistrates' Court to theft and wilfully obstructing a police officer.

He was given a three-month curfew between 9pm and 6am, and ordered to pay £16 compensation.

So much fun: year five pupils enjoy the summer school at Samuel Ward Academy

Summer school was action-packed fortnight

PUPPET shows, drumming and animation lessons were all on offer for kids at a summer school.

More than 150 year five pupils from schools in Haverhill, Clare, Wickhambrook, Hunden and Thurlow attended the summer school at Samuel Ward Academy, in Chalkestone Way.

The children learnt new skills such as photography and showed off their drama and music skills in shows watched by parents.

A trip to London to visit Ripley's Believe It Or Not Experience was very popular with Abigail, who said it was her favourite bit.

She said: "I think that everything we did was very exciting and enjoyable, especially London."

Another pupil, Jack, said: "I made lots of new friends, it was brilliant and useful, and I wish I could come next year."

Summer school leader Neil Williams said: "This was a wonderful two weeks."

Lorna fails to impress talent show's judges

A WOMAN from Haverhill proved she did not have the X Factor after she terrified the judges on Saturday with her raunchy routine.

Britney Spears impersonator Lorna Bliss, 33, appeared on the hit talent show wearing a white fishnet body stocking and lime green underwear.

Lorna's performance of 'Till the World Ends' by Britney Spears involved her straddling Louis Walsh before chasing Gary Barlow around the audience as he tried to flee her advances.

The judges were unimpressed by her antics and she was unanimously voted out of the ITV1 competition.

Lorna, who has more than 3,000 followers on Twitter, made it into the semi-finals of Britain's Got Talent last year where she performed Toxic by Britney Spears in a similarly provocative style.

She told the X Factor cameras: "I just love being on TV, I just want to be on TV all the time."

Golden wonder Jonnie has always been a star

Number one: Jonnie Peacock shows off his gold medal at the Olympic Stadium

Jonnie Peacock's debut at the Paralympic Games in front of the 80,000 capacity crowd in London saw him win the 100m gold medal in a record time – despite running even faster in training! The blade runner's mum Linda nearly lost him to meningitis when he was just 5. She shares their amazing story in this interview by LOUISE MARTIN.

IT'S not every day your son is on the front page of the Radio Times, gracing local and national newspapers and starring in Channel 4 advertisements. But since athlete Jonnie Peacock got the call telling him he had been selected for the Team GB squad at this year's Paralympic Games, seeing her sprinter son in the spotlight is something Linda Roberts is starting to get used to.

"I came into work this morning and colleagues have left newspapers on my desk where they've seen Jonnie and I might not have seen it," laughs Linda, 46. "My mum's texting me 'he's on the front page of the Radio Times' and friends are seeing him on TV. I'm having conversations I never thought I would have."

When the 19-year-old sprinter from Doddington lined up for the T44 100m race in London last week, it was as the fastest amputee sprinter ever.

The determined athlete clocked a record-breaking 10.85 seconds at the US Paralympic Track & Field in June, making him the man to beat in the battle of the blade runners.

And Jonnie's Paralympics debut saw him storm to a record time of 10.90sec in the Olympic Stadium to win gold with his hero and rival, South Africa's Oscar Pistorius, in fourth place. Watching Jonnie was his supremely supportive mum, who has every right to be proud of her talented son as, when he was struck down with meningitis aged 5, she very nearly lost him.

In October 1998, Jonnie's three older sisters Bethany, Rebekah and Hannah had been poorly with a nasty virus and, when the only boy in the family began running a temperature, Linda instantly thought he too had picked up the same bug. "It was Sunday morning and Jonnie had actually been naughty the day before..." remembers Linda. "Jonnie was a bit of a naughty little boy, I have to be honest, and he'd actually kicked his sister, so I'd put him in his room and told him until he said sorry he was going to stay there."

After 20 minutes, Linda went to check on her son and found him sound asleep in bed. "I thought he must just be tired but he had a bit of a temperature and I just thought he was coming down with it as well."

By the Saturday evening, Jonnie's temperature was very high and Linda put up a bed in his room so she could keep an eye on him throughout the night. When his condition deteriorated, she decided to call the doctor. "I had the doctor on the phone several times and I said 'it's okay, I've got four kids, I've done this 100 times', but something just didn't sit right." Certain that something was seriously wrong, at around 7.30am on the Sunday morning, Linda left Jonnie for a matter of minutes to go back downstairs and ring the doctor again. When she returned he was delirious and covered in a bright red rash. "He was just covered," remembers Linda. "It was like this rash had just exploded all over him; that was the scariest thing to see."

Painfully aware the rash could be a sign of meningitis, the terrified mum wrapped her son in his duvet, bundled him in the car and rushed to Addenbrooke's. "We literally parked where the ambulances go and he was scooped up and rushed in, and before I could blink there were six people working on him. One lady asked me if I was okay and I just said 'meningitis' and she nodded."

Caused by either a viral or bacterial infection, meningitis is an inflammation of the meninges, the protective membranes which surround the brain and spinal column. It affects around 2,400 people in the UK each year – and kills 300.

Told Jonnie was critical, and needed to go into an induced coma to give his body every chance of fighting the disease, Linda, Jonnie's dad and the rest of the family were advised to say their goodbyes. "I couldn't say goodbye, I just couldn't let him go," she says. "I just refused to believe I wouldn't have him."

"They were putting needles and lines in him all over the place and he was really drowsy, but at one point he did say 'ow' and I said to him 'that's it darling, you stop them, you fight them. I love you'. And that was the last thing I said to him before they put him under, not knowing if I was ever going to speak to him again."

Linda was told the next 48 hours were critical; on his fourth day in hospital, she got the news she had been praying for: Jonnie was going to make it – but he might have suffered mental and physical damage."

"I didn't know who I was going to get back," explains Linda. "When he came out of the coma I was talking to him and telling him I loved him and he just went 'I love you too'. I was so pleased but I still didn't know personality-wise how he was going to be. There was a male nurse in the Intensive Care Unit who was waking around whistling and Jonnie, who could hardly speak, just went 'shut up'. I was so pleased; whatever he was going to look like, this was still my cheeky little boy."

Although Jonnie's brain had escaped the disease unscathed, his body had not, and there was a dramatic loss of blood pressure in his right leg. Despite many attempts to save it, surgeons said it would have to be amputated.

"That was the very worst part of all," admits Linda. "When he went for his operation I was warned he would need to take it out on somebody, and I was a safe place to do that. As soon as he came round he was screaming and he sat up in bed and looked at his leg. It was really, really awful and he just looked at me and said 'you gave me the wrong medicine'."

Despite Jonnie's initial shock, he was soon showing his determined nature and started to get well. By Christmas, a little more than two months after contracting meningitis, Jonnie was back home with his family and, when he was strong enough, experts fitted his first prosthetic. "The minute he got the leg he was on it, he wanted to do everything," says Linda. "He learnt to ride his bike again, it took him no time. Seeing him walk again was just something else and on his first school sports day there wasn't a dry eye."

Although Jonnie was regaining some normality due to his new leg, Linda admits that mentally it has been a tougher journey. "My son had a physical disability, but it was the social side around that which was the bigger impact than losing a leg. We always had a culture where Jonnie and his sisters could have friends over for tea and they would go to theirs, and it did change after Jonnie was ill. I don't blame anybody for not having him over, it's scary – people were worried he was going to hurt himself or there would be a problem – but I think it was more hurtful they didn't come to us either."

Growing up, Linda explains that Jonnie suffered phantom pains and nightmares and has had four further amputations since his first operation as his bones have grown.

After each operation, he has had to wait for the swelling to go down before a new prosthetic could be fitted, but Linda says it wasn't the operations that have bothered him – it was missing out on playing with his mates while he waited for a new leg.

"For Jonnie, it's always been more painful for him not to be able to join in than to put an artificial leg on to the end of a raw stump. He would literally have a raw leg and there would be people outside playing football, and he would put on his leg and go out to play."

A year after her son contracted meningitis, Linda, who was a single mum at the time, realised she needed something to focus on other than Jonnie and her daughters, and became a volunteer for the Papworth Trust. "I realised I wasn't coping as well as I'd hoped and I was in danger of losing it a little," she admits. Linda has now been with the charity for 11 years and oversees the young people's services. "It has been my lifeline in so many ways; I don't know where I would have been now if I hadn't come here."

Just as Linda needed a focus, so did Jonnie, and for him it's always been sport. Growing up, he played football and rugby but, aged 15, he got involved in UK Athletics. Attending a talent identification day in London was, says Linda, a hugely significant moment. "He had to walk from one side of the sports hall to another where all these other amputees were. I watched my boy walking across unsure and, as he saw the group he was headed for, his whole body changed and his head was up."

"He was 15 and on the cusp of a really difficult time in his life, and I'm convinced being a part of UK Athletics, and meeting fellow amputees, really helped him to accept everything. It was an opportunity for him to find where he belongs, and that was provided by sport. That was provided by UK Athletics and now that's provided by Paralympics GB."

Linda is, quite rightly, immensely proud of her son and she just wants him to do his best.

"Every time I watch him run I see that little boy who was so ill and shouldn't be here. I'm so desperate for him to be proud of himself."

Charity farewell as mayor steps aside

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE outgoing mayor of Haverhill has given the proceeds raised during her year in office to two charities.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, who has been replaced as town mayor by Cllr Pat Hanlon, chose to donate the £2,060 she raised during her year as mayor to St Nicholas Hospice Care and the breast cancer unit at West Suffolk Hospital.

She said: "These are two wonderful causes and I am so pleased to be helping them continue with their marvellous work."

"St Nicholas Hospice Care is well known to us locally for its extraordinary effort in providing practical, medical and spiritual support to local people and their families living with life-threatening and life-ending illnesses."

Ian Norris, a community fundraiser, collected the cheque for £1,030 on behalf of St Nicholas Hospice Care while Mr Balendra Kumar, associate specialist in surgery at West Suffolk Hospital, collected the cheque for the breast cancer unit.

Cllr Byrne said: "I have personal experience of the wonderful treatment given by Mr Kumar and his team."

"It makes me very emotional to think that without them I would not be here today."

Her successor, Cllr Hanlon, has chosen to support the National Autistic Society Suffolk Branch during his year as mayor.

He said: "NAS Suffolk provides vital services to parents, carers and those affected by the disorder."

"It is my pleasure to be able to nominate them as my chosen charity."

"Amongst other things, NAS Suffolk help by going to parents' and carers' homes to give help and advice, a service that can only be offered by social services to the most pressing cases."

Beer cheer raises cash

A BEER festival has raised around £500 for teenagers with cancer.

The Three Horseshoes pub, in Helions Bumpstead, held a beer festival and fun weekend over August Bank Holiday weekend to raise money for Addenbrooke's Teenage Cancer Trust ward. Visitors were entertained by bands Clever Trevor and Broken Arrow, and entertainer Timmy Tickle delighted the kids.

Ann Jennings, licensee of the pub, said: "Many thanks to everyone involved. "A good time was had by all."

Group seeks new chief

A COMMITTEE that looks after organ donation is recruiting a new chairperson. The position with West Suffolk Hospital's organ donation committee will last for two years and involves attending training and promotional events as well as quarterly meetings. Stars to shine in festival fun

THERE is no shortage of star wattage in this year's Cambridge Film Festival programme.

But, as ever, the festival is a voyage of discovery that will take you across the globe to explore the best of world cinema, and out into parks, universities, swimming pools and up onto rooftops to experience film as you've never quite experienced it before.

With everything from family favourites to full-on horror, it's a programme that spans all ages, genres and tastes, guaranteeing there's something in there for you – even if you don't always know what that might be until you get there.

Cambridge will welcome loads of special guests throughout the course of the festival.

Film-makers already confirmed to attend (schedule permitting) include David Frankel (Hope Springs), Ol Parker (Now Is Good), Monika Treut (The Raw and The Cooked), Stelios Kammatsis (Jerks), Jesse Vile (Jason Becker: Not Dead Yet), Robert Guédiguian (The Snows of Kilimanjaro), Mat Whitecross (Ashes), Fredrik Gertten (Big Boys Gone Bananas), Christopher Wagner (Blind Spot), Toni Harman (Freedom For Birth) and Katarzyna Klimkiewicz and Alison Sterling (Flying Blind).

Look out for more names and surprise appearances throughout the festival. Last year, star wattage was provided by Gary Oldman and John Hurt, who were in town to launch Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy – so you never know who might turn up in 2012...

Highlights of the programme:

■ To Rome With Love (12A, USA/Italy/Spain, 2012, today)

■ The Snows Of Kilimanjaro (Les Neiges Du Kilimandjaro) (15, France, 2011, today/tomorrow)

■ Hemel (18, Netherlands/Spain, 2012, today/Saturday)

■ On The Road (18, France/UK/USA/Brazil, 2012, Saturday/Sunday)

■ Jason Becker: Not Dead Yet (15, UK/USA, 2012, Saturday)

■ Hit and Run (15, USA, 2012, Monday)

■ Now Is Good (12A, UK, 2012, Monday/Wednesday)

■ Flying Blind (Cert TBC, UK, 2012, Monday/Tuesday)

■ The World According to John Irving (Cert TBC, Germany, 2011, Tuesday)

news from

AS popular as ever, I Love The Sixties, starring the Swinging Blue Jeans with Sounds Force 5 will be with us from 8pm today.

Ladies – come along for a bit of pampering tomorrow from 6.30pm to 8.30pm when C & B Beautiful hold a ladies' night with lots of stalls including beauty treatments, jewellery, photography, hairdressing, clothing, style advice, hypnotherapy, teeth whitening, cupcakes, biscuits, birthing advice, accessories and bridal wear.

On the cinema front, Reel Culture The Woman On The 6th Floor (12A) showing on Monday, September 17 at 7.45pm is a charming 1960s set French comedy of manners with an all-star cast. Monsieur Joubert befriends the Spanish maids who live at the top of his apartment building and becomes enchanted by their simple happy lifestyle. But it is not long before Joubert's wife becomes suspicious of his newfound fascination with the servants, particularly with the lovely Maria. French with English subtitles. Playing The Moldovians At Tennis (PG) on Thursday, September 20 at 7.45pm tells the true story of writer Tony Hawks, who attempts to win a silly bet but becomes embroiled in an uplifting and life-changing adventure.

Tony's 'trivial' project begins to take on a far greater significance than he ever imagined and results in an inspirational climax and an enduring legacy. Profits will go to the Hippocrates Children's Centre in Moldova. Steve Carrell and Keira Knightley star in Seeking A Friend For The End Of The World (15) on Friday 21 and Wednesday, September 26 at 7.45pm. Following the alarming news that an asteroid is on a collision course with earth, Dodge's wife runs away and he decides to embark on a cross country road trip to reunite with his childhood sweetheart. Tagging along is his British neighbour, Penny who turns out to be more of a hindrance to Dodge's spontaneous plan than he had accounted for.

Talent joins forces

CAMBRIDGE Arts Theatre will present the premiere of the 2012 tour of Duet for One next week.

Jacqueline du Pré was one of the world's greatest cello players whose career was cut tragically short due to illness.

Resonant with echoes of the life of the famous musician, Duet for One leads celebrated concert violinist Stephanie Abrahams through a series of sessions with her doctor, as she is forced to come to terms with a future very different to the one she had imagined.

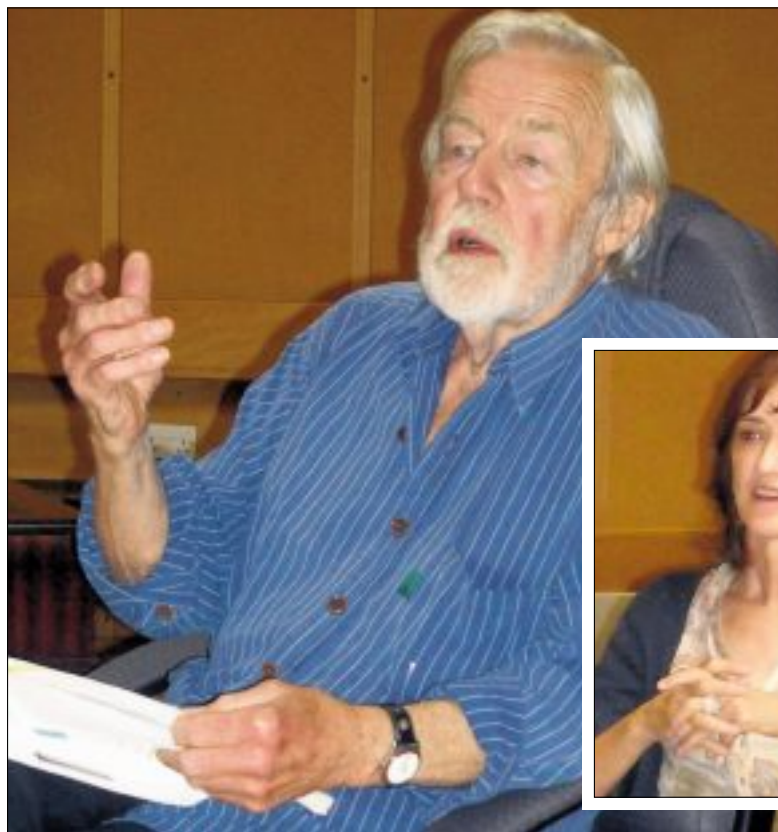

Duet for One has always drawn a wealth of theatrical talent, the original production starred Olivier Award winner Frances de la Tour and, in 2009 Juliet Stevenson and Henry Goodman took on the mantle.

Now, two of the country's finest theatrical talents, Olivier Award nominee Haydn Gwynne and William Gaunt come together to star in Tom Kempinski's tense drama.

Gwynne's numerous credits include Queen Elizabeth opposite Kevin Spacey's Richard III, in Sam Mendes' acclaimed Old Vic production, following a sell-out world tour.

She had previously starred on Broadway, recreating her role as the dance teacher, from the original London Production of Billy Elliot The Musical, winning a Drama Desk, Outer Critics circle, and Theatre World Awards for Best Actress in a musical, as well as nominations for an Olivier & a Tony Award. She was also nominated for an Olivier for her role in the West End Production of Cy Coleman & Larry Gelbart's City Of Angels.

Gaunt's prolific career has seen him work with many of the country's finest creative talent, credits include: BBC Television's Next of Kin with Penelope including Look Back in Anger and The Cherry Orchard with Vanessa and Corin Redgrave.

Keith; ITV's Sergeant Cork; Bridget Jones: The Edge of Reason; Henry IV Parts 1 & 2 (Globe Theatre); King Lear / The Seagull (RSC) and numerous productions for the National Theatre

■ Duet for One, Cambridge Arts Theatre, Wednesday to Saturday, September 22 at 7.45pm (2.30pm Thurs and Sat matinee). Tickets are £15 to £27. All tickets are subject to a £2.50 booking fee. Tel 01223 503333 / www.cambridgearts theatre.co.uk

The big film

THE SWEENEY certificate 15, 1h52m

FLYING Squad hard man Jack Regan returns to the big screen with some old-fashioned brutality in Nick Love's revamp of the classic 1970s TV series.

In the same way that the daredevil antics of Riggs and Murtaugh in Lethal Weapon put a fictional gloss on life on the streets for the LAPD, The Sweeney is completely divorced from the reality of modern policing in London.

Car chases career through the shimmering glass and metal structures of Canary Wharf at dizzying speed to the pounding beat of Lorne Balfe's score and a shoot-out in Trafalgar Square leaves ancient monuments riddled with bullet holes.

Love's script, co-written by John Hodge, follows DI Regan (Ray Winstone) and sidekick George Carter (Ben Drew) as they hunt a gang of wily European thieves led by slippery Francis Allen (Paul Anderson).

Unfortunately, the team cannot find sufficient evidence to charge Allen and they are forced to let him go after hours of intense questioning.

explode when internal affairs officer Ivan Lewis (Steve Mackintosh) embarks on a personal crusade to bring down Regan, who just happens to be bedding Lewis' wife Nancy (Hayley Atwell).

Section chief Frank Haskins (Damian Lewis) protects his boys and girl in the Flying Squad as much as he can, but internal affairs clearly has a vendetta and will stop at nothing until the team is disbanded and Regan languishes behind bars.

Filmed on location in London, The Sweeney embraces every cliché imaginable as Regan propels his department to the brink of self-destruction. Car chases are well choreographed and Winstone plays the daddy of the department with tightly coiled intensity.

The romantic subplot with Atwell defies credulity – Winstone looks like he would rather chew off her face than kiss it – and their bedroom scene inspires unintentional snorts of derision.

By contrast, Drew (aka rapper Plan B) underplays his role but still gets involved in the bruising fisticuffs and a climactic showdown that pokes fun at the British love affair with caravan and trailer parks.

New looks are worth trying out

by Hannah Stephenson

WITH a wide choice of spring bulbs now available in garden centres and from bulb specialists, it's difficult to know which varieties to choose and is often tempting to stay with old favourites.

But there is a flurry of new bulbs worth trying, according to a trial of daffodils and tulips by Which? Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine, which also suggests that new varieties produce better results than some of the older types.

Trialists found that the new bulbs had a more regular height and consistent flowering time, giving an overall better display than the older ones.

Last autumn, trialists tested 53 new types of spring-flowering daffodils and tulips, growing them alongside five well-established varieties to use as a comparison. The bulbs were planted in early November, the narcissus twice their own depth and tulips three times their depth.

The bulbs had to withstand baking sun, high winds and torrential rain in spring.

Among the recommended daffodils were Narcissus 'Lieke' (Walkers Bulbs), which was the longest-lasting bloom, whose dainty flowers have a green eye and delicious scent. It bloomed for 45 days, producing three stems from each bulb and three flowers on each stem from April to May, the 45cm stems staying upright despite heavy downpours.

Other daffodil winners included the dwarf 'Sweet Love' (Peter Nyssen; Unwins), which produced the best scent, while the small, nodding, cream flowers with a yellow centre shed the rain with ease, and 'Swoop' (De Jaeger), another pint-sized type which produced the most flowers of all the varieties. From 23 bulbs, more than 80 stems were produced, with swept-back yellow petals and nodding heads, perfect for naturalising around trees and woodland.

Many of the new tulips trialled also gave an excellent display, including Tulipa 'Dior' (HW Hyde & Son), which began to flower early, in April, producing several large double flowers in a luxurious shade of pink at the top of each stem.

If you're looking for unusual, the tulip 'Green Star' (Sarah Raven) may suit you, with its slender, elegant green flowers with cream tips held on long straight stems, daring enough to catch the eye but without jarring. They were grown in pots with other tulips and found to be great companions for pinks, whites, purples and striped varieties, flowering in May and reaching a height of 45cm.

Other stars of the show included T. 'Black Jack' (Peter Nyssen), one of the darkest varieties with blooms with a velvety sheen which flowered earlier than old favourite 'Queen of Night' and persisted for five weeks. They have long straight stems which would be good for cutting and combine well with white and pink tulips.

Those who want their tulips to withstand pounding rain should plump for T. 'La Belle Epoque', whose fully double apricot flowers, reminiscent of a peony, continued flowering through the rain.

The best new parrot tulip was 'Irene Parrot' (Peter Nyssen), bred from the popular 'Prinses Irene' and has mid-sized orange flowers that are frilled, cut and flamed to give an exotic look. Unlike other parrot tulips, it didn't flop under the weight of heavy rain during the trial and continued to flower for 31 days.

Stocks of new varieties of bulb can be limited so order them now.

Full details of the trial are in the September issue of Which? Gardening. Sign up to Which? for a one-month trial for £1. For more information, visit www.which.co.uk/signup

Quick-sell companies may not be best option

ALTHOUGH activity levels are on the increase, some vendors remain attracted to quick-sell property companies offering inaccurate 'valuations', according to the NAEA (National Association of Estate Agents).

Some are offering cash purchase within just 24 hours, no matter what the property's condition, using pressure selling techniques to force a decision, usually at well below market prices.

Some people may want a quick sale for whatever reason, but this is not the way to get the best solution in the shortest timescale, advise Abbotts, who are concerned that it is the vulnerable and elderly who are most at risk from these companies.

"If there is an urgency, then legitimate buyers, such as developers, landlords wishing to extend their portfolios, or private buyers wanting a refurbishment project, are usually able to offer a quick turnaround, but at a fair price which reflects the circumstances," comments Philip Macdonald, managing director.

Alternatively, accredited auction houses will guarantee a fair market rate, suggests the NAEA, which recommends some simple tips:

■ Explore all sale options to maximise the financial return; don't be duped into a quick cash sale for whatever reason

■ Even if you did sign up for a quick sale, remember that you have cancellation rights within the seven-day 'cooling off' period. You don't have to go through with it

■ Consult Citizens Advice, where lawyers are usually available to offer free advice.

Sellers should always seek advice from professional estate agents who base their guidance on evidence from recent sales of similar properties within the locality, and will have potential buyers already registered with them.

Get a free electric home charger

NISSAN is offering existing and new Leaf customers an exciting new opportunity to claim a free Charge-master Home Charging Unit with free installation from British Gas and free access to the POLAR public charging network of 1,500 charging points, until the end of March 2013.

The offer is available to all EV customers who live in the Source London, Source East, Midlands and Milton Keynes Plugged-in Places regions.

The Charge-master Homecharge-i charging unit provides a convenient, affordable and safe way to charge electric vehicles at home – charging around a third faster when compared to a mains supply socket. The free installation includes a free home charger suitability survey, installation, testing and full instructions on use. It also comes with a one year warranty on parts and labour and a three year warranty on the charger.

As well as further reducing a 100 per cent electric Leaf owner's annual running costs, the offer gives owners the flexibility and freedom of charging their EV from home and while on the move with charging points positioned in key locations such as supermarkets, car parks and shopping centres in cities across the regions.

Steve McLennan, marketing director at Nissan Motor GB, commented: "We welcome this free home charging initiative Charging ahead: A free home unit involves only the black panel (also available in white) and connecting cord, not the whole fridge-size unit!

thanks to the partnership between our home charging provider British Gas and POLAR and are proud to be championing this initiative in our EV dealerships. We can now provide Nissan Leaf owners with a fast, convenient and safe way of charging their electric vehicle at home, as well as access to public charge points throughout the Source London, Source East, Plugged-in Midlands and Milton Keynes regions."

Nissan Leaf owners can check their eligibility at their Nissan EV dealership or online at www.polarnetwork.com. ■ Don't miss the Nissan Leaf road test in this Friday's drive supplement, free with the Cambridge News.

Seventh generation new Volkswagen Golf unveiled

VOLKSWAGEN has revealed details of its all-new seventh-generation Golf, including a new chassis, new engines, new dimensions and a completely revised interior space.

It's fair to say that while it looks very little different to the current Golf VI, the Golf VII is changed in almost every other way.

It's 56mm longer, 13mm wider, 28mm lower and up to 100kg lighter, along with a 59mm longer wheelbase for more interior space.

The exterior changes bring a new super-low drag co-efficient of 0.27 Cd, despite the traditionally aerodynamically harmful hatchback body.

Inside, taller drivers will benefit from front seats that have been moved further back, and yet rear legroom has been increased. Shoulder room has been boosted by around 30mm for both front and rear occupants, endowing the next Golf with a much greater sense of spaciousness.

Boot space rises 30 litres to 380 with the seats upright.

Its intelligent range of engines will include a 138bhp 1.4 petrol with cylinder deactivation technology, where two of the four cylinders shut down combustion at low engine loads to save fuel and achieve a potential 58.9mpg with 112g/km of CO₂.

A 1.6-litre 104bhp diesel achieves 99g/km of CO₂ with up to 74.3mpg, and a 2.0-litre 148bhp option records a remarkable 106g/km and 68.9mpg.

A first for the Golf is a choice of four driving modes. Eco, Sport, Normal and Individual partly echo the choice available on cars from VW's subsidiary Audi.

Further details are due at the Paris Motor Show later this month.

Fiat Panda 4x4 – a segment first – set to debut

THE new Fiat Panda 4x4 – the only four-wheel drive model in the A segment – will make its debut at this month's international Paris Motor Show.

The successor to a bestseller which first appeared almost 30 years ago, today's third-generation four-wheel drive Panda is a perfect interpretation of the spirit of the times, uniting consolidated off-road capabilities with a refined design and compact, efficient architecture.

The Panda 4x4 features an ESC (Electronic Stability Control) system with an ELD (Electronic Locking Differential) function as standard. This system provides additional assistance while driving and setting-off uphill on slippery terrain (snow, ice, mud etc). More specifically, the ELD acts by braking the wheels with poor grip (or those slipping more than the others), thereby transferring the drive force to those which have more grip on the ground. This function is activated manually by pressing a button behind the gear lever and operates below 30mph.

Two engine versions of the Fiat Panda 4x4 will become available, both with Start&Stop: the new 85bhp 0.9 TwinAir Turbo and the 75 HP 1.3 MultiJet II diesel. Compared with the 1.2 Fire of the previous generation, the TwinAir Turbo has 40 per cent more torque. In combination with a special six-speed gearbox with low-range first gear, it ensures better uphill starts, flexibility and pick-up. A similar improvement is found on the MultiJet II engine.

Two other new Pandas will debut in Paris: the Trekking and Natural Power versions. The first provides the link between 4x2 and 4x4 versions; combining off-road looks with smart front-wheel drive by implementing Traction+ technology. This is an innovative traction control system, which improves handling on slippery terrain, guaranteeing excellent performance when setting off.

There is also the new Panda Natural Power equipped with a dual fuel (methane and petrol) 80bhp 0.9 TwinAir Turbo engine.

Debut: The Fiat Panda 4x4 will be unveiled at the Paris Motor Show.

Do oil giants profiteer?

DRIVERS across the country have finally been given a cause for optimism following the announcement that the Office of Fair Trading (OFT) has launched a review into whether reductions in the price of crude oil are being passed on to motorists.

Although much of the consternation over fuel prices has centred on the Government's taxation policy, the other strand of the arguments concerning inflated prices has centred on the perceived lack of parity between the price of crude oil and the price at the pumps.

The watchdog called for information from the industry, motoring groups and consumer bodies amid concerns over the prices charged for petrol and diesel at the pumps.

AA president Edmund King strongly welcomed the OFT's decision to investigate fuel pricing and said the move was "overdue".

The OFT said it will be gathering information over the next six weeks, and plans to publish its findings in January.

The UK retail road fuels sector is estimated to be worth around £32 billion, the OFT said. Petrol prices rose by 38 per cent between June 2007 and June 2012, while diesel prices went up by 43 per cent over the same period.

The OFT said it will explore a number of claims about how the road fuels sector is functioning, including whether supermarkets and major oil companies are making it more difficult for independent retailers to compete.

The review will also consider whether there is a lack of competition between fuel retailers in some remote communities.

RAC Foundation director Professor Stephen Glaister says: "We have always argued for pricing transparency and this review promises to provide it. There has long been a suspicion amongst drivers that pump prices are much quicker to rise than fall. Now at last we should get a definitive answer on how the market works.

"We also welcome scrutiny of what the rapid decline in the number of petrol stations has meant for fuel supply and price. In 1990 there were some 18,000 forecourts. Now there are fewer than 9,000."

If the OFT's report finds that the motorist is being treated unfairly, it will have the authority to intervene to ensure adequate competition, although how this will manifest itself against the might of the big supermarkets and fuel stations remains to be seen.

Sleeker new Fiesta unveiled

THE new Ford Fiesta has been revealed, with new front-end styling and more technology than ever before.

A revised grille and new laser-cut headlights are the key updates externally.

There are also daytime running lights and a power dome-style bonnet, which is likely to be more for pedestrian protection than to provide space for large engines.

Among the technologies of this generation of the 15 million-selling Fiesta is Active City Stop, which detects impending frontal accidents at low speed if the driver doesn't, and hits the brakes hard, either preventing a crash or mitigating the damage done.

Ford's SYNC in-car connectivity system takes care of connectivity, enabling owners to voice-activate phone calls and their music selection from devices connected via Bluetooth or USB.

The SYNC system includes emergency assistance, which directly connects the vehicle occupants to local emergency services operators after an accident, in the correct language for the region. If you have an accident abroad, you'd better have your phrase book handy.

The MyKey system will also debut on the Fiesta. The system, which has been called both an unnecessary nanny and a huge boost to parents' peace of mind, operates by setting limits to the car's top speed, stereo volume and more.

Individual keys send signals to the car to inform it which driver is driving.

Also new to the model will be Ford's 1.0-litre EcoBoost petrol engine.

Traditionally petrol engines are the biggest sellers in this market sector, and the universally warm reception given to the tiny EcoBoost will help ensure the Fiesta continues to sell well.

Trainee Sales Executive

£Competitive + Car, Healthcare & Pension
Cambridge & M11 Corridor

If you're looking to start your career in sales, then the opportunity to join a European heavyweight with a portfolio of market leading products and a reputation for great service should be an easy sell.

The UK Division of one of Europe's largest manufacturers of laboratory consumables and healthcare products, Sarstedt is a brand recognised and trusted by healthcare professionals and laboratory scientists throughout the world. And that's why we're continually searching for fresh blood to help us stay out in front.

Right now we're looking for a talented Trainee Sales Executive to identify and maximise sales opportunities within our Life Sciences Division, across both existing and prospective clients within the Cambridge and M11 Corridor region.

Make no mistake; this is a genuine opportunity for someone looking to develop a sales career and make their mark with a market leader. We're looking for a confident person who can manage a varied and demanding workload, work well in a team and have the confidence and natural flair to interact with people at all levels. Above all, you should be able to show your enthusiasm and commitment to develop a career in sales.

What's more, you must also have a flexible approach and the ability to negotiate and persuade. And if you've an educational background in sciences, then so much the better. But if not, our extensive training and mentoring programme - providing you with a full understanding of our business - will ensure you acquire all the skills needed to be a success and to make a real difference to our business along the way.

In return, you'll enjoy a competitive remuneration package including good basic salary, generous commission structure, company car, private healthcare and pension scheme, as well as the full backing of our professional sales support team.

Selling. It's a science.

To apply, call 0116 235 9023 or email hr@sarstedt.co.uk for an application form quoting reference LS/0912/CN

Trophy hopes KO'd

Classic day for winners

A DEVASTATING display by Thorpeness in the morning session effectively put paid to Haverhill's chances of lifting the Tolly Trophy.

In perfect conditions at Felixstowe, Thorpeness romped into a 13-hole lead at lunch.

And although Haverhill tries hard to redress the balance during the afternoon, Thorpeness, who last won the competition in 2003, stretched their winning margin to 14.

The Haverhill team was: Andy Gage, Dan Wilkins, Daniel Bentley, Graham Ashcroft, Andy Craig, James Higham, Mark Barrett, Terry Lyons and Scott Turner. Matt Farlie and Mike Elsworth stepped in for the semi-final.

■ John Ward fired a superb nett 64 to win the men's Midweek Medal by four shots, a score which reduced his handicap by two shots.

Results – Division One: 1 David Simpkin 80-12-68, 2 James Higham 81-12-69, 3 Dean Cornelius 81-12-69.

Division Two: 1 Andrew Softley 81-13-68, 2 John Carr 87-16-71, 3 Stuart King 85-13-72. Division Three: 1 John Ward 87-23-64, 2 Barry Shuter 89-21-68, 3 Lawrence Drysdale 95-27-68.

■ Girton duo S Coote and P Atwood came out top in the Ladies Open at Haverhill.

Seventy players representing 16 clubs from across the region took part in the pairs' better-ball tournament, with the Girton duo scoring 45 points, beating Sonya Baterip and G Lawless (Manor of Groves), who pipped Josie Tutton and Lynda Minton (Braintree) on countback after both finished with 43pts.

Rosemary Borland and Anne Anslow (Ely City) had the best front nine score of 23 on countback from Jackie Casburn (Newmarket) and Diane Parr (Ely City).

Sonya Baterip (Manor of Groves) won the longest drive and the 'nearest-the-pin' prize on the eighth went to Bev Allen (Bury GC).

Trophies were presented by Haverhill's ladies' captain Doreen Darbey, who thanked her vice-captain Sheila Price and her team of volunteers who organised the event.

■ Fiona Stokes (right) a member of Haverhill's junior section, won the

THE Saffron Insurance-sponsored team of Lewis Whiting, Glen Hughes, Andy Pordage and Steve Bush won the Haverhill Golf & Rotary Club Charity Classic.

They scored 87 points to top the shotgun, four-ball, better ball event, to pip the Bradnams Joinery-backed side of Graham Ashcroft, Andy Bareham, Spencer Tatum and Derek Thomas, who had 86 points.

Joe Davis, Lee Chandler, Eamonn Bareham and Jason West, sponsored by Newmarket Motors, were third with 81 points.

Gerry Scott, Les Turner, Jack Warwick and Roger Hartley – also sponsored by Saffron Insurance – were the best team with an inactive handicap, totalling 92pts.

Andy Bareham won the longest drive contest, while nearest the pin prizes went to Gerry Scott (second hole), William McEwan (eighth), Robert Haylock (12th), and Lee Chandler (16th).

Main event sponsors were Saffron Insurance, Red Side Up, The Willow Business Centre, while Havebury Housing Partnership gave a donation of £100. Raffle prize donations were made by Paul Mower, Stylize Display Graphics, J R Humphrey & Sons, Anna Fairhead, Jon Grimwood, Karen & Paul Wilby, Chris Briggs, Tony Bayley, Barry Oliver, Howard Ward, Jodal and Abbeycroft Leisure.

Funds were also raised through programme advertising and included Adams Harrison, Suffolk Insurance Consultants (Saffron Insurance), CGS, Polar Pools, Machine Part Engineering, Dillowsays, M & M Camping, Paul Wilby PGA Golf Professional and Samuels Estate Agents.

Funds are still coming through and the beneficiaries are St Nicholas Hospice, the East Anglian Air Ambulance and Rotary charities.

Girls' Handicap at the Bungay Junior Open.

The event attracted a field of more than 70 players from across the east region, with Stokes carding an excellent round of 98-34-64. As a result has reduced her handicap by four shots to 30.

Three cheers for Kedington duo

Saffron Walden Tn 2 Kedington 7

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A

NEWCOMER Kieran Harrison and Ty Alleyne bagged hat-tricks as Kedington turned the screw in the second half to open the season with a bang.

Alleyne opened the scoring and, after Walden equalised, put George Mustoe in to make it 2-1.

Harrison looked to have given a healthy two-goal lead at the break only for Walden to make it 3-2 in the dying minutes of the half.

However, early in the second half Alleyne pounced on a rebound from Ellis Wiffen's blocked shot and then completed his hat-trick from Wiffen's cross minutes later.

Harrison then took over, slamming two more to complete an excellent start to the season.

Witchford 1 Wickhambrook 2

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-17A

WICKHAMBROOK made a bright start but chances went begging and they did not break the deadlock until the 55th minute.

That was when good work from Tom Pinker and Ross Whiting allowed James Percy to apply the finish.

However, further chances were spurned, allowing Witchford to equalise with their first real attack of the half.

However, Wickhambrook were not to be denied and they made sure of victory when Percy returned the favour for Pinker to slam home after the former's break down the right.

West Wrattling 6 Saffron Walden 3

Under-11 friendly

JACK Lisher scored five times as West Wrattling cruised to a comprehensive victory.

The other goal came from Finley Plant, who interrupted the Lisher show with the fifth goal.

Cornwell double helps 10-man Rovers pick up the points

Thetford 1 Haverhill Rov 2

Thurlo Nunn League, Premier Division
DAN Cornwell tucked away both goals as 10-man Haverhill came out on top at Thetford.

Cornwell put Rovers in the driving seat following the break with a penalty after being fouled, but they had to play the last 25 minutes with reduced numbers after Paul Abbott was sent off for collecting his second booking.

However, Cornwell was on target again before the hosts netted a late consolation.

Manager Peter Betts was pleased to see his side collect their second successive away win. He said: "It was a good win, especially away from home, so I can't really grumble."

"The players worked really hard and our fitness levels showed because we've found our way now after a tough pre-season preparation."

"We were on top for the first 20 minutes and they had to clear one off the line and their keeper has made a couple of good saves."

"The penalty was probably a bit harsh on them, but we aren't going to grumble because we'd missed a host of chances. From being comfortable, we've gone down to 10 men and they threw a bit at us and our keeper has had to make a couple of good saves before we've gone down the other end and scored again."

"We've produced good performances in our last three or four games and we'll need another one this Saturday at home to Saffron Walden in the FA Vase."

"It's a local derby, but we haven't played each other for years and hopefully there will be a big crowd here."

D-day for Haverhill in escape bid

Haverhill need at least seven points from their final home game of the season against Wivenhoe to preserve their Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One status.

After their heavy defeat against Mistley on Saturday, Haverhill were devastated to discover other results had gone against them, leaving the side bracketed on 207 points with Coggeshall and Maldon, just 13 points ahead of relegation threatened Elmstead Grasshoppers.

Mistley amassed a massive 377 for 5 after Haverhill had reduced them to 54 for 3. That recovery came on the back of an unbeaten 142 from Michael Griggs and 88 from Aussie import Kyran Young.

The home side blasted 178 runs off the last 15 overs as all bowling and fielding basics went out the window.

Haverhill had to try to get 200 for their full quota of batting points. Amit Gupta made 49, Ant Phillips 38, Luke Youngs 34, Ben Wilkins 28 and Jamie Boulton 26 as the visitors wound up on 253 for 9 for a 124-run defeat.

Skipper Simon Youngs said: "To beat sides like Mistley you have to take any chances they give you."

"They gave us three or four, we didn't take advantage and we paid the penalty."

"At the halfway stage we talked about making sure we got the 200 and we did that. What's disappointing is that not one of our players made a significant score."

"The wicket was great. We complain when the wicket isn't great but today there was a decent chance for someone to bat for a long time."

"Our fielding was poor and that disappoints me considering we have so many youngsters playing. Obviously, Saturday is now a massive game for the club."

However, the second team underlined their authority in Division Six, completing an unbeaten season to top the table by a massive 63 points.

They were victorious in a tight finish at Baintree, winning by one wicket after the home side finished at 244 for 7.

James Craig scrambled the decisive run, although Baintree contributed to their own downfall with 58 extras in Haverhill's 245 for 9.

GB help Maclean end her eighth-place hoodoo

CAROLINE Maclean and Sarah Grady ended the women's wheelchair basketball on a positive note as Great Britain secured their best finish since 1996.

The pair helped their team overcome Mexico 59-37 at the North Greenwich Arena to seal seventh spot, bringing to an end Haverhill-based Maclean's eighth-placed curse – she had finished in that position in each of her three previous Paralympics.

Stretham's Grady netted three points in the victory, with Amy Conroy leading the way with 22 points to her name and Helen Freeman notching 16.

Great Britain had the chance to come fifth, but were beaten 72-55 by China in the classification crossover match.

"We have proved we can play with the best teams in the world, and now we just have to learn how to win," said co-captain Louise Sugden.

"A medal in Rio, without a doubt – I think that is the goal going forward."
